LET'S EXPLORE THE ARCTIC!

My favorite Husky!

DAY TWO: GETTING AROUND

The Arctic is not the easiest place to find your way around. With all that ice and snow, you need special vehicles. Any land vehicle needs either skis or wide tires that can grip on the slippery terrain. If we need to get somewhere fast, we rely on the Arctic Helicrane. It has plenty of cargo space to carry blocks of ice, or scientific equipment ... or packages of sweaters and furry socks from home.

Arctic Transportation

DAY ONE: ARRIVAL

As a scientist just joining the LEGO® City Arctic Team, I was eager to get there and get started. The last part of my journey was on a dogsled. Boy, was it cold! Temperatures in the Arctic can get down to 90 degrees below zero. Fortunately, our sled dogs are okay with working in the freezing temperatures.

Arctic Base

DAY THREE: AT THE ARCTIC BASE

My main job is to study the strange crystals our explorers have been finding inside of the ice. But I am also learning all about the Arctic in general and ways we can help preserve this important environment. The one piece of equipment we use a lot is the flashlight – the Arctic has six straight months of night each year!

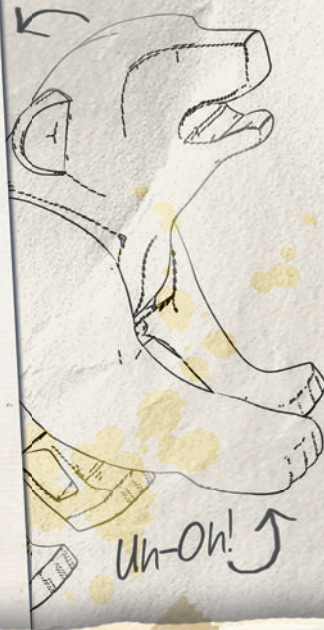

Strange crystal

What's this?

Polar Bear Sighting

Uh-Oh!

DAY FOUR: THE BEAR FACTS

When we go out in the Arctic Ice Crawler looking for crystals, the one animal we see a lot is the polar bear. This is the only place on Earth they are found. They are the biggest land predator on the planet, so we try not to get too close! We've learned how to do our work without bothering the bears, although they do seem to like to come visit our base.

DAY FIVE: CRACKING A MYSTERY

The LEGO Arctic team has a special job: discover the secrets of the crystals that are hidden inside the ice here. But before we can study the crystals, we have to get to them. That means using picks and chainsaws and other equipment to cut through the ice so we can retrieve the crystal.

Big block of ice

Discovering Ice Crystals

Caught One!

DAY SIX: TIME FOR SOME FUN

Even the LEGO Arctic team can't work all the time. It's fun to take out the snowmobile and go ice fishing ... as long as you like your fish frozen! You have to be really quiet so you don't scare the fish away, or attract the polar bears. They just love to steal your catch. Well, that's all for now from the snowy Arctic - back to work!

Check out the Arctic for yourself in the My City game at LEGO.com/city
